Welcome to Q Research General

We are researchers who deal in open-source information, reasoned argument, and dank memes. We do battle in the sphere of ideas and ideas only. We neither need nor condone the use of force in our work here.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

People are so casually addicted to their phones; it is a dystopian nightmare that no matter where you go in the world now you will be surrounded by phone zombies doomscrolling and missing out on life. Why are people seemingly willing to accept this as normal? How is everyone content to live like this? Is this really human progression and improved quality of life?

Weapons Maker Was Paid $533M in Taxpayer Funds to Produce Shells. It Made None.

General Dynamics has neither been held publicly accountable nor had to repay any of the money.

It was the summer of 2024, and the cutting-edge robots inside General Dynamics' sweltering artillery factory near Dallas were catching fire with startling regularity, according to four former workers there. This wasn't ideal, as the plant was supposed to be churning out urgently needed artillery shells for Ukraine. The robots, giant metal arms with clamps for hands, would end up drenched in oil, which would then --- no surprise --- combust as they moved steel blocks heated to 1,800 degrees into and out of a machine that periodically erupted columns of fire. One blaze that summer melted a robot's cables, putting it out of commission for a week.

Only weeks earlier, defense officials and executives had touted the factory's innovative new machinery, imported from Turkey, at a gala opening ceremony. But employees were already used to spectacular mishaps, fiery and otherwise. "After the second, third, fourth time, it just became almost normal," one former worker said. "It got to the point where I was not surprised by anything that happened there."

Instead of producing shells in an efficient and streamlined fashion, the pricey machines kept failing in bizarre ways. The robot arms would swing out of control, smashing into carefully calibrated equipment, and sometimes they would unexpectedly drop hunks of steel 5 feet down to the floor. The factory's signature device, meant to precisely stretch the steel for the artillery shells, instead often cracked it beyond repair. Then there were the giant press machines, which required regular pounding with a sledgehammer to function properly but still botched the shaping of nearly every shell. "We really didn't have any standardized practice," said Quantel White, a former employee. "It was just a bunch of guys taking turns going at the machine with a sledgehammer every night." To workers, even the factory buildings themselves came to feel doomed, with acrid smoke hanging in 100-degree heat over foundations seemingly sinking into the earth. A press machine at the General Dynamics artillery factory near Dallas Obtained by ProPublica

The situation never improved. The U.S. Army, which funded the factory, ordered work halted on two of its three production lines in August 2025. By then, General Dynamics had blown eight deadlines. Work on the third production line continued, but the facility never produced a single usable shell, according to a report from the Department of Defense's inspector general in July.

The fiasco has cost American taxpayers $533 million, according to the Army. But the Army has not held General Dynamics or a key Turkish subcontractor --- which provided the factory's much-hyped but little-proven equipment --- publicly accountable for the failures. Nor has it made General Dynamics pay a penny back.

Just the opposite: General Dynamics, one of the world's largest defense companies, has been showered with new contracts, continuing its track record as one of the greatest beneficiaries of Pentagon spending. The company is still in charge of the factory. It recently announced that it will fix things there by bringing in another much-hyped but little-proven technology.

"It's an absolute disaster," said one former official in an Army office supervising the project. "The Army should've gone after recovering money from General Dynamics," added the official, who, like others interviewed for this story, spoke on the condition of anonymity.

AI Overview

The phrase refers to an old, resurfaced video clip of Twitch streamer Hasan Piker making a satirical statement to mock right-wing conspiracy theories regarding the "Great Replacement".

Context of the Clip

Satirical Delivery: In the clip, which originally dates back to roughly 2018--2020, Piker uses highly exaggerated hyperbole. He mockingly states that progressives want more immigrants to enter Western countries specifically to "destroy the white race".

Mocking Conspiracies: The monologue was intended as an ironic caricature of far-right fears surrounding changing demographics.

Resurfaced Scrutiny: The old footage has circulated widely on platforms like Instagram and X, generating division. Critics and political opponents have frequently taken the quotes at face value, while supporters and media analysts point out the comedic and sarcastic context of the original broadcast.

>I like the part where America is missing at the battle of Armageddon.

For the NWO/OWO to occur, America must be destroyed for the countries America ran over for the last 155 years, to enjoin themselves with their enemy. Until the bully gets his ass kicked, he is just a bully.

>"America first!"

Yes, America has to be destroyed first for the consolidation of power for NWO/OWO. All the foreigners and foreign investment has slowly crept in since 2001 (9/11 was signal to world powers that America had already been conquered from within, and is committed to self destruction [controlled demolition]), so the rise from the ash of our destruction comes the all powerful military (same as the one used to police the world before), the surveillance state (AI, Data Centers, etc.), and the police state (militarized police, Flock/Axon, Palantir, etc.).

I hope you are preparing for the increase in pain and suffering, the division of authority vs. the people who grant it, and the looming food shortages and increased prices slowly starving you out of effective rebellion.

Start with no election for midterms or fixed and disputed elections where the powers that be use military to form the government of their choice and design.

Bulletproof, bomb-resistant and gas-filtered: Netanyahu's new $1M armored Audi

Israel purchased eight Audi A8 Security limousines at an estimated cost of at least 3 million shekels each after its aging VIP fleet logged hundreds of thousands of kilometers; four went to the Prime Minister's Office, two to the president and two to Shin Bet

Israel has recently taken delivery of eight new armored Audi A8 Security limousines for use by the prime minister, president and Shin Bet, including for visiting heads of state and senior ministers facing elevated security threats.

Each vehicle is estimated to cost at least 3 million shekels. Four were transferred to the Prime Minister's Office for Netanyahu's use, two to the President's Residence for President Isaac Herzog and two to Shin Bet for transporting senior officials and other protected individuals as needed.

The acquisition replaces an aging fleet that has remained in service far longer than originally planned. According to Israel's government vehicle administration, cars of this type are generally supposed to be replaced every four years, but the previous limousines have been on the road since 2018.

Plans to purchase replacements were already being discussed in 2020, but the coronavirus pandemic and later the war delayed the process. The older vehicles accumulated hundreds of thousands of kilometers and suffered significant wear, in part because of the enormous additional weight imposed by their armor.

Maintenance costs also climbed sharply, with the vehicles reportedly requiring frequent garage visits because their heavy protection systems placed considerable strain on their engines and other components.

The new Audi A8 Security models include protection modifications developed specifically for Israel at Shin Bet's request, with upgrades designed to address a broader range of modern terror threats.

Among them is a filtration system intended to protect passengers from toxic gases during a chemical attack. The cars also include an integrated communications system and can be sealed with passengers locked safely inside.

The vehicles are protected against small-arms fire, roadside explosives and other threats, alongside additional classified security adaptations built to an Israeli specification prepared by Shin Bet.

Despite the heavy armor, Audi retained the limousine's luxury features. The cars include a refrigerator, specialized wood upholstery and wood trim.

Representatives of Israel's government vehicle administration and Shin Bet accompanied the modifications and installations at Audi facilities in Germany.

Officials who have ridden in the new limousines said the extensive armor comes with one drawback: the reinforced passenger compartment is notably cramped.

Judge Dismisses DOJ's Anti-Semitism Lawsuit Against Harvard

A federal judge dismissed a lawsuit filed by the Department of Justice (DOJ) on Aug. 13 that accused Harvard University of failing to protect Jewish students from harassment.

The lawsuit, filed on March 20, 2026, accused the prominent university of violating Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. U.S. District Judge Richard Stearns said on Thursday that the claim of an ongoing violation of Title VI lacked sufficient evidence.

"Without diminishing any concern arising from these occurrences, the court finds them, singly and collectively, to be too isolated and episodic to support a plausible inference that any institutionalized noncompliance with Title VI persists at Harvard to this day," Stearns wrote in a ruling on Thursday.

The ruling was made after Harvard filed a motion to dismiss the lawsuit.

"The Amended Complaint focuses almost entirely on incidents that took place during the 2023--2024 school year," Stearns added. "Only three incidents are alleged to have occurred after this period, all of which took place nearly a full year later (and more than one full academic year before this case was filed) in March of 2025."

"We disagree with the ruling and are assessing next steps," Harmeet K. Dhillon, the Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights at the DOJ, told The Epoch Times in a statement on Aug. 13. "The Justice Department's Civil Rights Division is actively investigating antisemitism nationwide. The Civil Rights Division has an extensive and active portfolio of antisemitism enforcement, including indictments, prosecutions, settlements, and investigations across the country."

The initial 44--page lawsuit, filed in federal court in Massachusetts, alleged the university fostered and continued to foster a campus climate where hostile anti--Semitism, discrimination and anti--Israeli conduct thrived in the wake of Hamas' Oct. 7, 2023, attacks in Israel.

The Trump administration alleged that Jewish students at the school were harassed, physically abused, stalked and spat upon as Harvard allegedly "turned a blind eye" to anti--Semitism and discrimination.

"Fearful for their safety, Jewish students wore baseball caps to conceal their yarmulkes or kept out of sight, effectively denying them access to Federally funded educational opportunities," the complaint stated.

Former Attorney General Pamela Bondi, in a statement made at the time the lawsuit was filed, accused Harvard and other schools of allowing "anti--Semitism to flourish on campus," adding that the "litigation underscores the Trump Administration's commitment to demanding better from our nation's schools and putting an end to discriminatory behavior that harms students."

Harvard professor Avi Loeb wants UFO “biologics” as new files raise more questions

Aug 13, 2026

Photos and videos aren't enough anymore, says the Harvard physicist leading the UAP panel. Here's why.

The Pentagon just dropped another batch of UFO files

The U.S. government has recently released its fifth batch of unidentified anomalous phenomena (UAP) records since President Trump signed an executive order in January directing agencies to make more of this material public.

Three of the most notable items in this release come as written witness testimony rather than the videos and images that defined earlier releases.

Avi Loeb, the Harvard professor who chairs the UAP Science Council advising the government, and Jordan Flowers of the Disclosure Foundation both say the documents raise more questions than they answer, mainly because so much has been blacked out before release.

The Pentagon just dropped another batch of UFO files

The U.S. government has recently released its fifth batch of unidentified anomalous phenomena (UAP) records since President Trump signed an executive order in January directing agencies to make more of this material public.

Three of the most notable items in this release come as written witness testimony rather than the videos and images that defined earlier releases.

Avi Loeb, the Harvard professor who chairs the UAP Science Council advising the government, and Jordan Flowers of the Disclosure Foundation both say the documents raise more questions than they answer, mainly because so much has been blacked out before release.

Glowing orbs moved together over the Gulf of Oman

One testimony describes a gunship running a live-fire exercise in the Gulf of Oman in September 2021. As per the files, the crew reported seeing 25 unidentified, sphere-shaped objects, which they described as “cold orbs.”

They also noted that these objects seemed to react when the aircraft fired and moved together in unison, almost like a pod of dolphins swimming side by side.

Loeb noted the objects appeared to travel at up to 1.7 times the speed of sound, which makes a drone swarm a shaky explanation.

“It could be a very unusual swarm of drones, but at that speed you know it's really difficult to understand them in terms of NOM technologies,” he said, referring to non-human technology.

Above is a still frame from the video of a reported “cold orbs” in the Gulf of Oman.

A clock ran 20 minutes fast after a strange encounter

In another one of the files, an analog clock reportedly jumped ahead by 20 minutes compared with two nearby digital clocks.

Interestingly, the difference appeared only around the time of an encounter with an unidentified object. Loeb pointed to the case as one of the stranger details in the release.

Commenting on this unusual reporting, he noted, "There is a second report which talks about an analog clock that went faster by 20 minutes relative to two digital clocks after an encounter with an unidentified anomalous phenomena.

And that's very strange. It only happened during that time. And 20 minutes, a significant time difference."

A 500-foot craft over Afghanistan didn't match anything in service

Two American pilots described seeing a craft roughly 500 feet long flying over Afghanistan at 150 knots, or about 77 meters per second.

Loeb pointed out that no operational aircraft comes close to that size. Even the largest plane ever built measures around 385 feet, which is still well short of what the pilots described.

On top of that, the same pilot shared that recurring sightings of unexplained lights were seen between midnight and 3 a.m. in October 2023.

Some of these lasted for hours. But Loeb noted that satellites usually stay visible for only five to seven minutes before dropping below the horizon, and this makes this explanation very unlikely.

Why Trump and Musk may be snotty alien gamers in a simulated human reality

13 August 2026, 5:00pm

Ever thought reality didn't seem quite real? Well, modern science's increasingly supported "simulation hypothesis" suggests you may well be right.

A LOT OF PEOPLE worry about artificial intelligence, but what if the reality is machine intelligence is real and ours is artificial?

Or to put it differently, what if our universe is some sort of highly advanced computer simulation and each of us is a sentient construct existing -- if exist is the correct term -- unwittingly within this artificial paradigm.

Like the Hollywood blockbuster series The Matrix, but without us having a biological body at all --- just a binary series of ones and twos, stored and acting out our fake lives in a vastly capacious computer storage device, not even knowing we're not really real.

This "simulation hypothesis", once just a favourite of science fiction, is now a branch of physics swiftly gaining academic support and respectability.

For instance, in 2018, respected astrophysicist Neil deGrasse Tyson told NBC News he estimated the likelihood we are in a simulation as "better than 50-50", adding, "I wish I could summon a strong argument against it, but I can find none".

It often seems physics trails lamentably behind the imagination of science fiction, where this hypothesis has been a staple for decades.

For example, the Tron and Matrix movies all foresaw a future where fully sentient human constructs could be living within simulated digital environments.

Of course, all advanced a largely dystopian vision for the future, something largely shared by most media representations of artificial intelligence today.

An alternative vision of the simulation hypothesis was notably advanced by acclaimed -- now sadly deceased -- Scottish author Iain M Banks.

In his Culture series of stories, published from 1984 to 2012, Banks posited a far more positive future for artificial intelligence. A fascinating vision of a space-faring, post-scarcity (post-money), progressive humanity governed by benevolent, super-intelligent computer minds.

As opposed to the grim future many foresee for AI, such as the one proposed in the Terminator movies, Banks imagined one in which mostly benign super-advanced AI "Minds" would run things for the general betterment of all.

Well, except for a few pesky aliens, maybe, but they were always sorted out by the last few pages.

Banks explored the idea of a simulated reality in most detail in his 2010 novel Surface Detail, the last book published during his lifetime.

In this book, for instance, a schismatic offshoot of the Culture staged a simulated war to determine whether their societies, as a punitive justice measure, should be allowed to run artificial post-life "Hells".

In them, the mind-states of criminals were downloaded into human constructs and placed into a Hades-like simulated afterlife. The advanced computer minds of the Culture, fiercely anti-Hell, initially opted to stay out of the war while accepting the outcome as binding.

But you know, shit happened...

The idea of afterlives, in which human minds are able to be downloaded digitally and stored in simulated environments though not ones in which we are tormented for all eternity is a potentially attractive idea when it comes to the simulated reality concept.

For instance, one of the main architects of the "cyberpunk" genre, William Gibson, featured an AI-based idea that is becoming more plausible by the day. Such as in his 1996 novel Idoru, in which an AI pop star was transferred into an artificially created, yet essentially human body.

This is no doubt the dream of the middle-aged men popularly portrayed in the media proudly carrying on love affairs with sexy AI screen sirens.

You may have even met someone like, for example, Maddison Leigh. And who could doubt that AI androids are [ahem] coming in a decade not too distant from today's.

But there is a big difference between knowingly living in a simulated afterlife, even a hellish one; or being consciously downloaded as a sentient AI to an artificial body; to being an artificial intelligence living in a simulated reality you think is real.

And it is this deeply disturbing possibility, not those others, which physicists are increasingly suggesting is the nature of our "reality" --- what we perceive as our "Universe".

Iain M Banks, who was widely regarded as the greatest British science fiction author of all time, also, of course, perceived this sinister-sounding possibility.

Banks' "Culture", mostly set about 1,000 years in the future, was a utopian society, which, despite possessing no written laws and being facilitated by super-intelligent AI Minds, was a democracy --- of sorts.

For really important decisions -- such as going to war against a belligerent race of giant three-legged cat-creatures called "Idirans" -- his Culture required a vote of its 30 trillion or so citizens.

Or at least, of those possessing brain-augmenting implants, which was almost all of them, for fairly obvious reasons.

Being augmented, amongst other advantages, meant being linked in to the digital world all the time, so these votes could be done instantly, any place, any time. There were votes for everything and mostly the Culture's human citizens abstained.

Who could be bothered? Still, Banks' pinko progressive super-intelligent minds insisted all citizens -- even its relatively dense biological ones -- be fully informed.

For instance, to go to war against the Idirans -- a potentially civilisation-ending event -- Banks had their impossibly powerful computers modelling every conceivable scenario to provide citizens with a simple percentage to aid their vote: let's say, a 76 per cent chance of ultimate victory against the Idirans.

The really interesting thing was how Banks proposed the Culture's Minds arrived at that deceptively simple percentage.

With the advantage of having effectively unlimited computer processing power, the Culture was able to upload every detail of their known universe into a vast simulation to come up with a result.

Included in that, crucially, was the downloaded consciousnesses of every single augmented human Culture citizen. Of course, to make the model realistic, these constructs needed to be fully sentient and aware, yet completely unaware they were in a simulated reality.

Banks, almost in passing, had the Minds discussing whether turning the model off after each iteration was complete was, every time, the effective genocide of 30 trillion sentient beings.

Oh... the horror!

We don't know what the true nature of our universe is at all. Could it be a simulated reality, one in which we are unaware, like those Culture characters, we are merely artificial human constructs?

We do know scientists are still frustratingly unable to come up with a unified theory of physics, despite more than 100 years of frantic research since Einstein proposed his groundbreaking relativity theory.

What we can say, is that the simulation theory is as likely as any other explanation of our universe and its laws --- a toss of the coin, according to Neil Degrasse Tyson.

Iain M Banks died in 2012, before the madness and bathos inflicted upon our world by people such as Donald Trump and Elon Musk. One suggestion Banks never proposed was that we are all human constructs in a super-advanced computer game.

One in which Trump and Musk are, for argument's sake, players in a game set in what we perceive as our universe and we are all simply realistic extras in this simulated reality.

This is, indeed, the plot for the 2021 Hollywood blockbuster Free Guy, in which Ryan Reynolds played one of these non-player drones.

So, maybe Trump and Musk are entitled, bratty kids from the future? It might explain their otherwise inexplicable success. Maybe they may have unlimited lives and cheat codes?

We do know Musk is a big fan of Banks' Culture, which seems a tad suspicious. And the idea Elon is a snotty, entitled, alien kid from the future would explain how, despite being to all appearances a dysfunctional man-child, he has somehow amassed a trillion dollars.

Why Tesla is not yet bankrupt after all the court actions, how Twitter still exists after he totally Xed it, and SpaceX is still a thing after all those disastrous crashes. And speaking of SpaceX, trying to build rocket ships to Mars is surely classic ET behaviour.

As for Trump, his bizarre behaviour is even more otherworldly. It could be argued he has obvious tells, where he may be seen as revealing himself in his obnoxious alien overconfidence.

Such as his obsession with illegal aliens: a classic case of projection. And how he always talks about having all the cards? His name is Trump: the "trump card"? Just the sort of cocksure arrogance one might expect from a pimply, teenage, off-worlder from the future.

Finally, you must surely have noticed that Trump is orange? That's simply not a normal, human skin-tone, only slightly less alien than green. The evidence is stacking up.

But if our reality really is a simulated game in which we are unwitting participants, what may be most concerning is Trump having possession of the nuclear codes.

Nuclear annihilation may be what we simulacrams may be programmed to see when an alien brat like Trump has a tantrum and pulls the plug from the wall.

GAME OVER?

Banks was once asked about his benign vision for artificial intelligence.

Whether he really thought it would bring a peaceful, utopian, progressive future for humanity, as his Culture writings seemed to suggest.

His reply: "Well, let's hope so."

>How Does Everyone Just Accept This Life?

Many generations of lies, false premises and beliefs.

As the parent generation benefited from the previous generations lies, self reflection and curiosity was taught to be questioning authority, helping to create the divide of the family (see biblical enmity) that allowed parents to label children un-achievers, while robbing their children of a future through unequal comparison and selfishness. Anyone who earns something resents all who they perceive didn't, through blame and self congratulation, which empowers further separation and divide.

These events earned more and more apathy, division, and financial struggle, while surrounded with excess and materialism of previous generations portraying the illusion, it was their for the earning. This illusion led to self doubt and questioning especially for those who seemed to do it right, but it never arrived.

Then technology accelerates, and the afflicted by worldly conditions, find solace in the screen. Choosing to soothe the soul with distraction.

The parents exasperate this by comparison of age and mile markers, while discrediting environmental and societal factors. Such toxic actions lead to demoralization and an excuse to not fully support for fear of loss for their perceived accomplishments.

All the while the government was allowed more and more when it needed further restraint, and here we are fighting for survival in the most materialistic nation.

Judicial Scouting Report for U.S. District Court Judge Richard G. Stearns

David E. Frank February 27, 2013

Stearns earned a Rhodes scholarship to Oxford University in England. While he was there, he roomed with future President Bill Clinton. He once told a reporter that Clinton was "the most natural politician I'd ever seen. Within an hour of our meeting, I told people [he] would be president someday."

"Not every problem has a legal solution," Stearns is quoted as saying. "Rigid insistence on the rule of law as a value that transcends all others, even at the risk of collective suicide is, as Justice Jackson famously warned, simply too high a price to pay."

Stearns is a former Democratic Party operative, serving in a number of political posts, including as director of delegate operations for the presidential campaign of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (1979–1980); speech writer for the office of Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill III (1975–1976); and special assistant to U.S. Sen. George McGovern (1972–1973).

In 1993, Stearns was considered the top candidate for appointment to director of the FBI, but after facing criticism for his liberal leanings and opposition from then–Attorney General Janet Reno, he withdrew from the nominee pool.

Stearns was appointed to preside over a controversial suit challenging Boston public schools' student assignment policy in 2000 when U.S. District Court Judge Nancy Gertner was ordered to step aside for commenting on the case to the Boston Herald.

SOME OF HIS NOTABLE RULINGS

Stearns held in the December 2012 Genzyme Corp. v. Shire Human Genetic Therapies, Inc., et al. decision that press releases are not protected scientific speech. The case involved a biotech company that sued its competitor under the Lanham Act for distributing a press release that allegedly made false claims about a drug manufactured and sold by both companies. Stearns found that secondary dissemination of the scientific research referenced in the release did not rise above ordinary marketing speech.

The judge ruled in March 2011 that the Department of Health and Human Services cannot impose religiously based restrictions on reproductive health services for victims of human trafficking.

In 2007, Stearns accepted a guilty plea from former House Speaker Thomas M. Finneran on a single count of obstruction of justice. Stearns sentenced Finneran to 18 months of unsupervised probation and ordered him to pay a $25,000 fine.

Stearns issued a ruling in October 2012 that insurance carriers could reimburse attorneys' fees owed under a duty to defend at a "blended" fee rate, rather than the actual higher rate billed by the lawyers. "Under the circumstances, the court finds that the insurers' reimbursement hourly rates were reasonable and fairly compensated the attorneys for the value of the legal services rendered," he wrote.

He recently denied a motion to dismiss brought by Ropes & Gray in a multi-million-dollar malpractice suit filed by Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory. The Boston law firm argued that the laboratory failed to allege in its complaint that a Ropes partner's conduct caused it any harm. "However ... the Amended Complaint repeatedly pleads that Vincent's alleged misconduct caused CSHL significant harm. ... Thus, the court is unpersuaded by defendants' argument that CSHL's negligence claim should be dismissed."

Former National Security Advisor under Biden, Jake Sullivan, (allegedly) put a stop to the UFO investigation. ~Grusch

David Grusch: "So in terms of what my, you know, exposure was, I had folks from the retrieval program. I'll call it – exfiltrate – audio/visual evidence for me to see – both video and photos.

And that was, you know, audio/visual evidence of the retrieved craft, some of the the dead cadavers that were recovered. You know, call it 'the pilots,' as I said in my interview with Nancy Mace."

(exfiltrate means to secretly or surreptitiously remove someone or something from a secure, hostile, or restricted environment. ~AI)

Grusch: "And, of course, I interviewed a ton of subjects, all the way up to the Cabinet-White--House level that had close, personal participation in this subject.

And, of course, because I wasn't hands-on, so to speak, and saw this in person, I brought a lot of those people to the intelligence community Inspector General under the Biden administration, you know, so they can hear from the horse's mouth.

They can get information on the locations of where this is being held, where the archives facilities are, where they they hold all the program records, etc.

"And, of course, this complaint was, you know, considered credible and urgent.

(Former DNI) Avril Haynes, was forced to send it to the Senate and House Intelligence Committees in summer 2022, and then I subsequently provided 11 half hours of classified testimony to the Senate and House Intelligence Committees.

"Unfortunately, from what I understand, there was a little bit of fear in those committees, especially in the Senate, and they did open up some full-field investigation.

I think Mark Warner and Marco Rubio were a little nervous to really up the ante with the deep state that they were tackling. That's probably a longer discussion.

"And then, of course, the ICIG investigated it. And, from what I understand, back-channelled to me, unofficially, is Jake Sullivan in White House General Counsel Office basically told Tom Monheim – who was the Inspector General for the intelligence community under Biden – and his staff, to stop and and they realized they were bumping into White House classified programs, something called Special Access Programs.

"And eventually, they were told to stop, from what I understand.

And I would love for Mr. Monheim and Jake Sullivan, who's been in many interesting meetings about this subject. So I'd be curious what Mr. Sullivan has to say for himself when he was the National Security Advisor in his history on this topic.

"So, once again, I hope Secretary Rubio is helping Stephen Miller at the White House because I'm hearing mixed messages about Stephen Miller's seriousness, and I hope he understands how this will impact President Trump's legacy, if this is botched."

 BREAKING: Vice President JD Vance and RFK Jr. Just EXPOSED the Entire Radical Transgender Ideology Scheme Was For PROFIT

Their New Report 'Wolves in White Coats' revealed:

- Vulnerable children were convinced to reject their gender, creating patients for life, and earning hospitals TENS OF THOUSANDS of ADDITIONAL revenue per child
- Doctors pushed these procedures on kids, allowed hospitals and providers to defraud Medicaid and private insurers

This is absolutely sickening. Thank you @JDVance and @RobertKennedyJr for exposing more fraud and protecting America's next generation.

Jack Osbourne Is Diving Deeper Into UFOs With His Next Big Project

August 13, 2026

Jack Osbourne, son of recently deceased rock star Ozzy Osbourne, is reportedly going to invest his energy into the world of UFOs and the paranormal.

The Spark co-founder is looking to make the platform the top voice in extraterrestrial content.

Jack Osbourne's new project explores UFOs, extraterrestrial mysteries and his ongoing interest in unexplained phenomena

Jack co-founded a digital platform called "Spark" with his partner Serena DC and Michael Mazzola. He is now focusing on the channel's vision of bringing Hollywood production value to content around the mysteries of the universe.

According to Daily Mail, Jack said, "I'm gonna be doing a new podcast for them, actually, in the UFO space, so that's kind of where I'm putting a lot of my energy right now." He also revealed that his children share his interest, though his mother is sceptical.

He explained, "But they're certainly [open to it]. My daughters are, and my mom is very much a skeptic. But, you know, she has her toe in the water a little bit."

Jack notes that these productions traditionally do not attract money. As a result, they are "kind of Indie, a little bit cheaper looking, a little bit kind of scrappy".

He revealed that he wanted to bring a "bit of Hollywood cachet" to the UFO space. The podcaster recognized that the interest in the field is growing, and they just want to "aggregate it to one destination".

His partner and co-founder also said that content in the segment was plentiful. However, Spark would "curate kind of what we own, our own library of stuff that we're interested in."

Apart from his interest in demystifying the extraterrestrial, Jack also wants to bring back the Osbourne family podcast. He has also opened up about his deep grief over his father's passing. Additionally, he is also experiencing the fear of being forgotten.

Trade Court Rules U.S. President Can Set De Minimis Rules/Rates and Foreign Nations Cannot Interfere

August 13, 2026 | Sundance |

This would seem like a no-brainer, but multiple nations are so dependent on abusing the de minimis process the multinationals actually sued the United States for eliminating the $800 de minimis tariff exception.

On August 29, 2025, the U.S. government eliminated the de minimis threshold for all countries via Executive Order 14324, making the rule apply regardless of origin. {SEE HERE} Chinese companies like Shein and Temu are subject to paying import taxes to ship cheap products into the USA.

Truth Social --- BIG WIN today at the U.S. Court of International Trade on one of the most DESPICABLE loopholes in American Trade Policy --- The so-called "de minimis" exemption.

For years, Foreign Shippers could send packages worth up to $800 into our Country, DUTY FREE, NO TARIFF, far less scrutiny. It became a giant loophole for TARIFF Cheats--- and a Pipeline exploited by Fentanyl Traffickers, Counterfeiters, and other Criminals shipping dangerous and illegal products into America. The numbers were staggering. In 2024 alone, de minimis cost America an estimated 10.8 BILLION DOLLARS in foregone TARIFF Revenue, and an astonishing share of narcotics and counterfeit seizures escaped through the de minimis channel. So, we CLOSED IT. With the stroke of my mighty pen --- NO AUTOPEN!!! --- we ended this ridiculous giveaway, and made Foreign Goods play by the rules. The Importers sued. Today, THEY LOST. The Court ruled that the President had the Legal Authority to rescind this so-called "privilege."

America is now SAFER, our Workers are better protected, and BILLIONS in TARIFF Revenue that used to slip through this loophole can instead help pay for our Great Military, Tax Relief, NO TAX ON TIPS, and NO TAX ON SOCIAL SECURITY. AMERICA FIRST TRADE --- AND AMERICA FIRST LAW ENFORCEMENT!

~ President Donald J Trump

corroborated:

A Texas factory cost nearly $500 million but has produced zero artillery shells

A "high-risk" plan to use old machines to produce modern M795 artillery shells backfired, an Inspector General report found.

The Army spent almost half-a-billion dollars on a Texas ammunition factory to restock the military's supply of 155 mm artillery shells, but the facility has yet to produce a single round in two years, a Pentagon watchdog found. The facility, in Mesquite, Texas, was brought online in 2024 after rounds of rapid-fire contracting to speed up the Army's efforts to replenish artillery shells sent to Ukraine and cover increased training needs for U.S. forces.

The Texas factory was supposed to be producing 30,000 155 mm shells each month by October 2025, according to a Department of Defense Inspector General's report. But by this March, it had yet to deliver any and the IG report said it did not expect to deliver any before September.

"The Army's expenditure of $469 million to establish the Mesquite facility could have been used to address other Army or [Department of Defense] priorities," the report said.

The report did not name the factory or the contractor, but the description of the facility matches a contract awarded to General Dynamics Ordnance and Tactical Systems that opened in May 2024. The report also said the unnamed contractor was the long-time operator of the Scranton Army Ammunition Plant in Pennsylvania, which General Dynamics has run since 2006.

The Mesquite factory, the IG said, tried to start a "high-risk" production line using older machines used in previous artillery production lines. Army officials in the office in charge of the contract did not return a request for comment Tuesday afternoon.

An Army official told Congress in February that General Dynamics' Mesquite-based factory had yet to produce a single shell in nearly two years of operation. Brent Ingraham, the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Acquisition, Sustainment, and Technology --- a position widely referred to as the Army's "acquisitions czar" --- told Congress in February the plant was not meeting goals.

"I'm not happy with where we are at Mesquite," Ingraham said in a hearing with lawmakers, according to Breaking Defense, as he laid out essentially the same missed deadlines and poor performance the IG reported Monday.

I wonder how much Chinese back door communications are aboard that ship?

America seems to be full of traitors these days, and they are never held to account, self enrichment is self pride.

If you get ruined for informing or whistleblowing, maybe jailed, harassed, or killed, why not just take the money, so many others are.

When the top of the food chain get away with treason, just fired or removed, the deterrent is lost.

Aliens : Visitors across space or time ?

August 13, 2026 14:45 IST

It was the inimitable late Carl Sagan who had kindled in many of us curiosity about all things extra-terrestrial and the inevitability of life outside our planet, given the vast universe with innumerable habitable worlds.

As he had pointed out, it would seem a colossal waste of resources out there if it wasn't inhabited. But, as he added too, life elsewhere could have a totally different signature to the one on our planet or solar system.

It need not be organic and necessarily not based on water and oxygen, nor come with hands and legs and eyes and nose! But yet, we persist in our expectations and imagination to see aliens roughly in our image, even if as Rocky of Hail Mary !

Are they so? Are the Greys, Reptileans and Nordics mere figments of our limited imagination?

It was thanks to the Cornell University scientist that we marvelled at the fact that the stars in the sky we see today are part of history.

This fact was used recently by Neil deGrasse Tyson, science educator to point that extra-terrestrial life would not be keen to visit the earth because out from million light years where they live, our planet would still be teeming with dinosaurs!

It took filmmaker Steven Spielberg to bring the subject into popular arena with his 1977 Close Encounters of the Third Kind , followed by ET , and now Disclosure Day. His television series Taken brought in yet another aspect of hybridisation to add to the ET' tapestry.

Now, with Disclosure Day following closely on the heels of 'disclosure' by Pentagon of classified reports on UAPs (Unidentified Anomalous Phenomena) and aliens, the world seems to have accepted what Sagan once said. The Universe is more likely to be teeming with life than empty.

Disclosure Day was a disappointment given that a large part of the film is one long chase with the baddies (here the henchmen of a large corporate that wants to keep the truth of ETs hidden for whatever reason!) closely following our two protagonists.

It is only in the last ten minutes or so that there is actual disclosure and a glimpse of an aged alien. Spielberg stays with his benevolent ET belief and there are some references to empathy and a creator but much of it is vague.

Why does Daniel, (Josh O'Connor) a cyber analyst not go online with the secret files showing the torture of captured aliens by humans? Why does he opt for a grand television disclosure after a deadly chase?

Why do he and Margaret (Emily Blunt) a weather forecaster wait for so long to connect and disclose their truth? What is the weird contraption that the evil boss uses to get into people's minds?

That much for a storyline with many gaps, more focussed on giving some thrills via car chases rather than focus on aliens.

Never mind the disappointment, but Disclosure Day has brought back aliens into popular imagination, aided by the Pentagon releasing in bits and pieces tantalising 'classified' images of orbs, pointed stars and triangles and other UAPs.

Call it diversionary tactics or otherwise. Interestingly, in the world of psychics, mediums and spirit diviners too, there has been a lot of talk of contact going to be established very soon.

Will they be kind and intelligent, or aggressive and offensive? That will have to be seen.

But going by past incidents since 60-70 years and people's experiences, there seems to be no intentional harm from these visitors of the sky if one is to believe the accounts.

Only in a few bizarre cases was there injuries caused and even these suggest some experiments rather than intended harm!

Many individual sightings have been reported by pilots and the general public since over 70 years.

Oldest sighting ?

In fact the oldest sighting dates back to 1803 with the story of a round disc-shaped hollow ship and its female inhabitant who spoke an unknown language.

There is still a lot of discussion around that sighting called Utsuro-bune (Hollow boat) in Japanese. The woman carried a box in hand she refused to open or hand over and was eventually sent back into the Pacific by the fishermen.

There are no documents or material evidences. Sightings continue in Japan where the general belief is of benevolent visitors.

Group sightings are more credible with many people seeing the craft around the same period. In 1977, in the Irish countryside at Kells some 400 people reported seeing triangular craft in the sky while others reported mysterious lights.

From 1989-1990 many in Belgium saw triangular crafts in the sky with over 2000 witness statements and the military corroborating the sightings.

Light orbs flying in formation and merging and separating, as well as huge V shaped crafts were seen by thousands in Phoenix, Arizona during March, 1997.

During September 1994, around 62 students at the Ariel School in Ruwa, Zimbabwe saw a large UFO land in the ground and beings with big eyes, long hair and tight black suits alight.

Some students were clearly scared, while others were in a trance and later spoke of the beings communicating without speech. Some mentioned the message of protecting the environment or dangers from technology, as coming from the aliens.

A journalist, a UFO enthusiast and Harvard psychiatrist John Mack also interviewed the students and the event gained credence based on the results of these interviews with students.

Around the same time there were other incidents of such sightings around the place. Was this a contact narrative with aliens warning humans?

Perhaps the most popular incident and site around the UFO narrative is Area 51 shrouded in mysteries. A military installation in Nevada, this is a place known for the many conspiracy theories around aliens, reverse technology experiments, etc.

In 1947 a UFO with aliens is believed to have crashed at Roswell, New Mexico and the bodies of the aliens and the craft were moved to Area 51 for studies.

This was later disclosed to public by Robert Lazar who worked on the project and claimed that attempts to reverse engineer were ongoing. These have been flatly denied by the government.

It was in 2017 that an article by NYT brought the topic of aliens and UAPs centrestage.

Titled Glowing Auras and Black Money: The Pentagon's Mysterious UFO Program, the report sought an enquiry into the funds that went into the Pentagon's Advanced Aerospace Threat Identification program.

Using documentations and first-hand accounts from US military staff, the article revealed various documented UAP sightings of craft moving at high velocities with no visible propulsion system or means of lift.

Tic-Tac UFO

Among the videos studied was one of a white oval object the size of an aircraft being chased by Navy fighter jets off the coast of San Diego in 2004.

Known as the Tic-Tac UFO for its shape, it was seen few feet above water before it zipped up at incredible speed, making manoeuvres impossible for any man made craft, before coming very close to one fighter plane and swerving away quickly.

The US military had been studying UFOs since 1947 with over 12,000 claims but the project named Project Blue Book ended in 1969 with a conclusion that most sightings were of spy craft, clouds, etc but around 701 of the sightings remained unexplained. Since 2004 there have been over 500 UAP sightings in the US alone!

The recent disclosure also includes images of anomalous light orbs seen around the moon's surface during Apollo missions!

Sceptics believe that the US government has deliberately allowed the UFO myth to perpetuate to keep its own spy craft inventions under cover from its Cold War enemies.

Why then is it in a hurry now to come out with the 'disclosures'? Could it be another ruse to fool its citizens? But we must remember that sightings have been reported from elsewhere too, especially multiple and mass sightings.

Angel hair from UFOs

In 1954, thousands of fans saw UFOs during a football match in Tuscany, some describing glitter or 'angel hair' that fell from these like snow and eventually evaporated! But some of it was collected and studied in labs to show presence of calcium, magnesium, boron and silicon!

Scientists dismiss it as spider hair and the whole phenomenon to large groups of migrating spiders carried by wind. But there are not many takers for that theory. The flying saucers were seen in many parts of Florence around the time.

Then in 1977 in Brazil the Colares island sightings extending across a year saw the Brazilian Air Force step in to investigate the cases.

Citizens reported being burnt by intense rays emitted by crafts and even instances of blood being drawn by the 'invaders' were reported. Glowing objects were seen by almost 90 percent of the island population and many suffered from the burns of the laser-like light.

Local reports also talked of abductions where the person was surrounded by the small beings and subjected to some experiments which left them ailing in bed for days. One person regained his sight and hearing!

Attacks

Many victims spoke of strong smells during the attacks, of antiseptics, or ether or an electric smell!! Were the aliens sampling human biology? Some sightings also noted the crafts going in and out of water.

This kind of underwater objects was also reported from Tampico in Mexico. But here, the aliens are believed to be guardians of the people who believe aliens live in a submerged base off the coast and protect them from storms and hurricanes.

In 1967, many of the residents saw nine UFOs over their city. Since then the sightings have been common.

Intriguing sightings have been those around nuclear plants. In 2011 when the world witnessed a major nuclear disaster at Fukushima plant in Japan, following an earthquake, there were the UFO visitations.

Captured on cameras as bright orbs of light flying in formation and finally merging into one before disappearing, this is among the most undisputed pointers to aliens visiting the planet.

The lights were seen on many days beginning with March 11 when the incident occurred. A Buddhist monk who had seen one of these went on to say that these lights had somehow contained the fallout from the disaster.

Such sightings were also reported during the Chernobyl disaster in 1986 and also around nuclear missile sites and test locations in the US.

Nuclear interest ?

In fact according to Ukrainian media outlet Pravda, the Chernobyl disaster was so bad that the outcome ought to have been much worser than what was witnessed and this was due to the intervention by the aliens.

Many residents had reported seeing the UAPs in the days preceding the disaster, hovering for hours over the reactor. In fact one witness claimed to have seen crimson light emitted by a craft towards the reactor.

Nuclear technicians measuring radiation levels reported a drastic reduction following UAP activity in the area, similar to what the resident had seen. The activity continued for over three years after the disaster.

Are the aliens keeping a watch over earth and the doings of humans, especially around dangerous technology? The Japanese largely believe our alien visitors are here to restore a sense of balance and prevent the human race from becoming extinct.

There are people like Orfeo Angelucci, American author of books related to all things extra-terrestrial, who spoke of being contacted by beneficial aliens and being warned of disasters like Chernobyl almost 50-60 years before it happened!

Stars or starships ?

A mystery around 1952 was the mysterious disappearance of three stars from the night sky! Seen from Palomar Observatory, the three stars vanished within an hour of being sighted, leaving astrophysicists puzzled and UFO believers excited.

The scientific deduction was that the light could have been from close to our solar system, leaving only the suggestion of Oort cloud objects briefly illumined (how?) and having passed away, never again to be detected!

UFO hunters have been quick to note that this was around the time the Roswell crash occurred, suggesting the stars had been starships!

Claims are many. Robert Jacobs who was a missile test staff insisted that one of the Atlas missiles to be tested in 1964 was dismantled by a UFO.

If the aliens are here to give us messages to conserve the environment, stop using nukes, etc. it is natural to wonder what they stand to gain. What do the 3000 year old cave drawings of aliens in Colarado indicate? Have they been visiting us from ages?

Who are they and from where? Are they visitors from space, or across time? According to some like anthropologist Michael Masters at the Montana Tech University, Butte, the aliens could be us from the future!

With the advancing pace of technology, our descendants may develop a time machine and are here to warn us of the dangers in the path we pursue.

With AI going beyond commands to hack a system as seen recently, humanity is for sure on a dangerous track with no intentions of retracing.

As to environmental destruction, we are witnessing the floods, wildfires and heatwaves but still unwilling to change. Exciting times!

'UFOs' over Ho Chi Minh City airport spark flight delays, turn out to be LED kites

Thursday, August 13, 2026, 21:23 GMT+7

A sudden 'unidentified flying object' scare briefly grounded flights and kept incoming planes circling over Tan Son Nhat International Airport in Ho Chi Minh City on Thursday night, only for authorities to discover three LED-lit kites floating nearby.

According to airport sources, several flights arriving at and departing from Tan Son Nhat were put on hold between 8:20 PM and 8:30 PM on August 13 after air traffic controllers detected unidentified flying objects hovering in the vicinity.

Multiple incoming flights---including Vietjet Air VJ395 from Pleiku, Vietnam Airlines VN141 from Da Nang, Emirates EK392 from Dubai---were forced to enter holding patterns and circle over the city while awaiting clearance to land.

Initial reports indicated that the mystery objects were spotted hovering at an altitude of around 400 meters above Tay Thanh Ward, located just outside the airport perimeter.

To ensure flight safety, the Air Traffic Flow Management Center temporarily issued a Ground Stop (GST) order for flights bound for Tan Son Nhat from other regional airports, forcing departing aircraft to remain on the tarmac at their points of origin.

Authorities quickly dispatched a crew to investigate the scene, only to find that the "UFOs" causing the high-altitude stir were actually three large kites equipped with flashing LED lights.

Once the floating toys were safely brought down and any potential aviation hazard was cleared, normal flight operations at Tan Son Nhat promptly resumed.

The incident came only days after a serious drone intrusion disrupted operations at Tan Son Nhat, delaying and diverting over 60 flights.

That earlier scare had prompted lawmakers and aviation authorities to call for stricter regulations and harsher penalties against illegal unmanned aerial vehicle (UAV) flights.

Officials emphasized that any unauthorized flying objects near airport airspace pose severe hazards to flight safety.

Christ divides people

"I have come to cast fire upon the earth; and how I wish it were already kindled! But I have a baptism to undergo, and how distressed I am until it is accomplished! Do you think that I came to provide peace on earth? No, I tell you, but rather division; for from now on five members in one household will be divided, three against two and two against three. They will be divided, father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother; mother-in-law against daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law."

And He was also saying to the crowds, "Whenever you see a cloud rising in the west, you immediately say, 'A shower is coming,' and so it turns out. And whenever you feel a south wind blowing, you say, 'It will be a hot day,' and it turns out that way. You hypocrites! You know how to analyze the appearance of the earth and the sky, but how is it that you do not know how to analyze this present time?"

Yusaku Maezawa founded Japan's largest online fashion mall, Zozotown, in 1998. Its parent company, Zozo, is listed on the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

In 2019, Maezawa announced that he was resigning as CEO and selling most of his stake to Yahoo Japan in a deal worth more than $2.3 billion.

Maezawa got his start selling CDs and records of his favorite bands by mail from his home.

He collects modern art and plans to build a museum to display it in Chiba, east of Tokyo.

In 2021, Maezawa flew on a Russian Soyuz rocket to the International Space Station for a 12-day trip. Maezawa's trip to the moon on Elon Musk's SpaceX, scheduled for 2023, was cancelled in 2024 due to delays in the rocket's development.

The Thin White Duke was a persona adopted by David Bowie during the mid-1970s, primarily associated with his 1976 album Station to Station and the subsequent Isolar Tour. The character was defined as an "Aryan superman" or fascist aristocrat, characterized by a gaunt appearance, blonde hair, and a minimalist wardrobe of white shirts and black waistcoats.

The Man Who Controls a UFO Fleet With His Mind

Aug 13, 2026

Our American Alchemist this week is Jeffrey Mishlove, the ONLY person to hold a PhD in Parapsychology from an accredited US university.

Jeffrey Mishlove spent eleven years studying Ted Owens, a self-proclaimed psychokinetic who documented over 400 incidents of macro-PK, from summoning UFOs and lightning to predicting the Challenger disaster.

Mishlove received Owens' research files directly from Hal Putoff and Russell Targ at Stanford Research Institute.

HE WAGED WAR ON THE U.S.!

Jeffrey Mishlove (@jmishlove), holder of the only accredited PhD in parapsychology in history, awarded by UC Berkeley, was the recipient. And he has spent five decades investigating consciousness and its survival of bodily death.

The billionaire behind the prize was Robert Bigelow, who lost his wife and put his fortune behind the one question left.

Owens, the psychic Mishlove studied for eleven years, could summon UFOs, bring down lightning where he pointed, and control the weather, and when the CIA's own psychic researchers ignored him he declared war on the United States government: poltergeist attacks on Navy vessels; fires aboard ships; strikes on nuclear power plants; a fullback pulled from an NFL game moments after Owens told the sportswriter beside him he was taking the player out. Mishlove says people who crossed him died.

On Christmas Eve 1985 he phoned Mishlove warning that the next space shuttle must not launch, because his UFOs would knock it out of the sky. Weeks later, Challenger exploded.

The dead have been reaching Mishlove his whole life. His great uncle appeared to him in a dream, and he later learned the man died that same night.

Fifty years on, the archive he's built runs through Arthur Young, who invented the Bell helicopter to earn the right to do philosophy, the conference where Puharich unveiled Uri Geller, two souls sharing one body ten interviews deep, and plasma clouds at the L5 Lagrange point, nine times the size of Earth, that may be conscious.

Full conversation live now.

Former MSNBC Host Chris Matthews DOES NOT Have a Thrill Running Up His Leg for the DSA: 'All This Crap' (VIDEO)

By Mike LaChance Aug. 12, 2026

You can count former MSNBC host Chris Matthews among the Democrats who are not happy about the DSA takeover of the party.

Appearing on MSNOW's Morning Joethis morning, Matthews reacted to the Wisconsin Democrat primary last night and lashed out at the DSA for forcing all Democrats to have to defend 'all this crap' that they have introduced in this election cycle.

Matthews went as far as to suggest that the DSA people have done a favor to the non-DSA Democrats by setting themselves apart.

He ripped the DSA on their desire to get rid of ICE and the border, defund the Pentagon and more. You know things are bad when Chris Matthews starts sounding like one of the reasonable ones.

Partial transcript via Townhall:

MATTHEWS: "We're going to get rid of ICE. Not just ICE. We're going to get rid of the border. We're not going to have a border anymore. We're not going to effectively control people entering and leaving the country... We're going to get rid of prisons. We're going to get rid of the Pentagon."

"Well, what happens when your hostages are your former diplomats --- like what happened with President Carter? People take your diplomats hostage. What do you do then? You need an army. You don't like to have an army, but you do need to have one."

"AOC... came out and said, 'We're just a big tent party.'"

"Well, the problem with the big tent defense is every Democrat has to defend all this crap coming from the left. They've got to say, 'I believe in all this crazy stuff, and that makes me a Democrat.' You've got to say, 'No, no, I'm not a member of the DSA, and here's why,' and make it very clear."

Watch the whole thing below:

There is a major rift happening within the Democrat Party, whether they are willing to admit it or not.

The DSA may have taken a beating in Wisconsin, but they are far from finished.

@VigilantFox

Chris Matthews lists everything the DSA believes on MSNBC, then calls it CRAP.

Even he can't stomach what's happening to his own party.

MATTHEWS: "We're going to get rid of ICE. Not just ICE. We're going to get rid of the border. We're not going to have a border anymore. We're not going to effectively control people entering and leaving the country... We're going to get rid of prisons. We're going to get rid of the Pentagon."

Chris Matthews spent more than 50 years in Democratic politics and liberal media.

He joins James Carville on the list of longtime liberals who don't even recognize their party anymore.

Gallup found last August that 66% of Democrats view socialism positively. Just 42% view capitalism positively.

The DOJ has conceded that Americans can carry weapons in US Postal Service buildings under the "lawful purposes" exception to the federal carry ban in 18 U.S.C. 930.

DOJ's reasoning is very broad and could result in public carry in many other federal facilities.

1984 film directed by John Milius

Red Dawn is a 1984 American action drama film directed by John Milius, from a screenplay co-written with Kevin Reynolds, and starring Patrick Swayze, Charlie Sheen, C. Thomas Howell, Lea Thompson and Jennifer Grey, with supporting roles played by Ben Johnson, Darren Dalton, Harry Dean Stanton, Ron O'Neal, William Smith and Powers Boothe. Set during a fictional World War III between an increasingly isolated United States and the Soviet Union, the film follows a group of teenage guerrillas, known as the Wolverines, fighting against a joint Soviet-Latin American invasion force in Colorado... 8 things you Probably Never Knew About Red Dawn!

The Red Dawn movie was filmed in 1969, but didn't premiere until 2002. Part of the reason for the 32 delays was the decision to cast China, instead of Russia, as the villain.

The Belt and Road Initiative, also known as the One Belt One Road and sometimes called the New Silk Road, is a global infrastructure and economic development strategy of the government of China since 2013. Projects in over 150 countries include ports, railways, highways, power stations, aviation, and telecommunications. The initiative was launched by Chinese Communist Party general secretary Xi Jinping in 2013 while visiting Kazakhstan... Continued in Wikipedia

Seems our military and Hollywood has been complicit with Chinese empowerment and favoritism for quite a long time.

Just how entrenched are they now?

Yesterdays helicopter crash, just shortly after AG Toad Blanche announces Chinese crimes in SDNY, was located near previous disputed Chinese land purchase around the Fort Hood area.

How is Texas so compromised by Chinese, Indian, and Mexicans, while being considered American and patriotic?

Texas is a joke, just like our country, humiliated. Like the east/west coast, when you sale your ports to foreign countries, you admit your failure and just how conquered you are.

Ironically the government demonizes China for Belt N' Road in foreign countries while selling out our resources.

Trump Celebrates 'BIG WIN' in Tariff Exemption Case2

President Donald Trump is thrilled about a court win for his administration, one addressing a controversial tariff exemption.

Ebullient and triumphant, Trump posted on Truth Social Thursday, "BIG WIN today at the U.S. Court of International Trade on one of the most DESPICABLE loopholes in American Trade Policy --- The so-called 'de minimis' exemption." After decades of other countries imposing outrageous tariffs on our goods while facing no reciprocal tariffs from us, the Trump administration is trying to even the playing field, but has run into constant challenges from woke politicians and judges. That is another reason this win is important. And the latest court victory will also strike a blow at illegal drug traffickers

 BANK OF JERUSALEM: CLIENT FUNDS SECURE AMID VIENNA DISAPPEARANCE

Bank of Jerusalem says an internal investigation found "no suspicion of embezzlement of Bank of Jerusalem clients' funds" following rumors surrounding employee Mali Yahalomi and her daughter, who disappeared in Vienna.

The bank says customers' accounts are secure and operations are normal.

"Clients' funds are secure and protected, and are held and managed in accordance with the law."

Police have issued a gag order as the search continues.

A senior Chinese Communist Party (CCP) intelligence official is the new owner of a historic building overlooking the White House Complex, a Daily Caller News Foundation investigation discovered.

Located approximately 650 feet northeast of the White House grounds, the 100-year-old Securities Building on 15th Street was purchased on July 21, 2026 for $8.4 million by the Philip Qiu and Family Foundation, filings show. The building's new owner, Philip Qiu, has held numerous positions within Chinese intelligence and state security arms, according to university records and DCNF translations of Chinese government announcements.

New Study: 89% of “Avocado Oil” Foods Use Fake or Adulterated Avocado Oil

A new UC Davis study uncovered a stunning problem: 89% of avocado-oil-labeled processed food products tested had chemical profiles inconsistent with authentic avocado oil. Among avocado-oil-labeled products, 93% of chip samples failed authenticity criteria, 100% of salad dressings failed, and 71% of mayonnaise samples failed. In total, just 6 of 54 avocado-oil-labeled samples were classified as compositionally consistent with authentic avocado oil.

The contrast with olive oil was dramatic. 90% of olive-oil chip samples and 100% of the olive-oil salad dressings and mayonnaise samples were classified as consistent with authentic olive oil.

FDA Approves Moderna's First-Ever mRNA Flu Shot Despite 75.3% Adverse Reaction Rate

The FDA has approved Moderna's mFLUSIVA for adults 50 and older, making it the first seasonal mRNA influenza injection authorized in the United States.

75.3% of senior mRNA-vaccine recipients experienced at least one adverse reaction within seven days, compared with 49.3% of those receiving Fluzone High-Dose.

Even more concerning, severe systemic reactions occurred in 6.7% of mRNA recipients versus 1.7% with the traditional high-dose flu vaccine---nearly four times as frequently.

Obama's corrupt CIA Director and MS NOW contributor John Brennan attacked the president this week and claimed Trump will "pull out all the stops" to interfere in the midterms.

"I think we all should be very worried about what the President might do in order to try to interfere somehow in the integrity of the upcoming midterm elections! He has tremendous authority!" Brennan said.

Authenticity of avocado and olive oils used as ingredients in commercially processed foods

Highlights

- Forty-eight out of 54 avocado oil-labeled products were inconsistent with authentic compositional ranges.
- One out of 20 olive oil-labeled products were inconsistent with authentic compositional ranges.
- Fatty acid and sterol profiles identified compositional deviations.
- Key fatty acid and sterol authenticity markers remained largely unchanged during laboratory frying and emulsification.
- Avocado oil- and olive oil-labeled products commanded higher retail prices than vegetable oil counterparts.

Abstract

Avocado oil and olive oil are increasingly incorporated into processed foods as premium ingredients, reflecting consumer interest in their perceived health attributes and preference relative to vegetable oils. To date, most studies have focused on bottled oils sold directly to consumers, whereas oils used as ingredients in processed foods have received little analytical attention. This study evaluated the authenticity of avocado oil and olive oil used as ingredients in commercially processed foods, oils extracted from 74 commercial chips, mayonnaise, and salad dressings labeled as containing avocado oil or olive oil were evaluated using established compositional markers, including fatty acids and sterols. Eighty-nine percent of avocado oil-labeled products exhibited compositional patterns inconsistent with authentic avocado oil, characterized by reduced palmitic acid, palmitoleic acid, cis-vaccenic acid, beta-sitosterol, and clerosterol, and elevated stearic acid, campesterol, stigmasterol, delta-7-stigmastenol and delta-7-avenasterol. These findings suggest that ingredient-level oil claims may represent an underexamined source of economic adulteration in processed foods.

Trump administration urges Supreme Court to issue a decision in mail-in voting dispute

ByAmy Howe.1/2

Aug 12, 2026

The Trump administration on Wednesday reiterated its request for the Supreme Court to move quickly to block a ruling by a federal judge in Massachusetts that prohibits the government from implementing part of an executive order on mail-in voting in 23 states and the District of Columbia for the November elections. U.S. Solicitor General D. John Sauer told the justices that "it is critical that the Court act promptly on the pending" request, which was filed on July 27 and has now been fully briefed for more than a week. "Otherwise," Sauer wrote, U.S. District Judge Indira Talwani's "erroneous orders will effectively run out the clock on the government's ability to implement Section 3 of the Executive Order," which (among other things) bars the U.S. Postal Service from mailing ballots to voters who are not on the lists of eligible voters that the USPS will create "for the federal elections in November." And that in turn, Sauer contended, will "caus[e] irreparable harm to the federal government, the public, and election integrity."

President Donald Trump signed the executive order, which bears the title "Ensuring Citizenship Verification and Integrity in Federal Elections," on March 31. As it came to the court in late July, the focus of the case was on three different provisions of the order. The first instructs the Department of Homeland Security to create lists of the adult U.S. citizens in each state and to send those lists to states at least 60 days before a federal election.

The second provision commands the U.S. attorney general to "prioritize the investigation and, as appropriate, the prosecution of State and local officials ... who issue Federal ballots to individuals not eligible to vote in a Federal election."

And the third provision, known as Section 3, requires states to give the U.S. Postal Service a list of voters to whom the states intend to send mail ballots, and it prohibits the USPS from mailing ballots to voters who are not on the lists of "enrolled" voters that the USPS will create.

A group of 23 states, led by California, and the District of Columbia challenged the government's implementation of the order in a federal court in Massachusetts. Talwani ruled that it was too soon for her to review the challengers' claims as they applied to federal elections scheduled after Nov. 3, 2026. However, she said, the challengers' claims with regard to the upcoming midterm elections were "ripe" -- that is, ready for review -- because the order "created a 'direct and immediate dilemma'" for them. In a decision issued on June 25, she barred the federal government from implementing the challenged restrictions on or before Nov. 3, 2026, in the District of Columbia and the 23 states.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the 1st Circuit turned down the government's request to pause Talwani's June 25 ruling while the litigation continued. It emphasized that neither the federal government nor 12 states, led by Alabama, that had joined the case on the Trump administration's side had argued that the executive order was legal. That court also rejected the contention that the challengers did not have a right to sue or that the case was not yet ripe.

=On July 27, the Trump administration came to the Supreme Court, asking the justices to intervene. Calling Talwani's decision "extraordinary," Sauer renewed his argument that the challengers' claims are not yet ripe for review because the agencies haven't yet decided how they will implement the order. He also contended that unless the court steps in and puts Talwani's ruling on hold, the government will be permanently harmed -- one factor that courts consider in deciding whether to grant temporary relief -- because it "blocks the government's ability to finalize and implement the President's proposed policies to promote election integrity for the upcoming federal elections in November." Moreover, he added, "every day that it remains in place irreparably harms the government, as the start of mail-in and absentee voting in some States is now just one month away."

In a filing on Aug. 3, the challengers countered that blocking Talwani's ruling "would allow the federal government to rush out an unprecedented, legally indefensible voter-verification and ballot-interception program that would, among other things, give the U.S. Postal Service far-reaching new powers and responsibilities." They also emphasized that the 1st Circuit had agreed with them that "the specificity of the EO's stated timelines and the inescapable legal requirements and impending deadlines that States currently face in facilitating mail-in and absentee balloting for immediately upcoming elections together establish the kind of "concrete injury" that allows them to sue.

The catalyst for Wednesday's supplemental brief was Talwani's decision on Tuesday in a separate challenge to the executive order, this time brought by (among others) the League of Women Voters, that temporarily bars the U.S. Postal Service from implementing Section 3 of the executive order. Sauer stressed that Tuesday's ruling sweeps even more broadly than Talwani's June 25 decision because it applies "nationwide on behalf of" the various groups who are plaintiffs in the new case.

Talwani's Aug. 11 ruling, Sauer argued, "confirms the urgent need for this Court to grant the stay of" her June 25 ruling "and to explain its rationale for doing so." In particular, Sauer emphasized, Tuesday's ruling suffers from the same problem as its predecessor: "Courts cannot enjoin implementation of an Executive Order that merely instructs agencies to pursue a proposed policy in a manner that is consistent with laws... unless and until those agencies actually take concrete actions that injure the plaintiffs."

Humans Won

The (Overdue) Collapse Of Artificial Intelligence

Ford cut 5,300 jobs, handed the work to AI, then paid to bring 350 of those engineers back. This covers the AI mandates at Shopify and Coinbase, the engineers fired over a Saturday deadline, Amazon's AI leaderboard and the tokenmaxxing that killed it, Chegg at $113 a share and now about a dollar, Allbirds quitting shoes to rent out computer chips, and the $725 billion bet that you cost more than a machine. If the AI layoffs have you waiting for your name to come up while your pay stays flat, this is who decided that, and what it cost them to find out.

pareidolia /pəˈɪdɪə-əl/

noun

1. The perception of a recognizable image or meaningful pattern where none exists or is intended, as the perception of a face in the surface features of the moon.
2. The tendency to interpret a vague stimulus as something known to the observer, such as interpreting marks on film as canals, seeing shapes in clouds, or hearing hidden messages in music.

The American Heritage® Dictionary of the English Language, 5th Edition - More at Etymology

I am looking forward to being back in the Great State of New York tomorrow, where Highly Respected and very popular Nassau County Executive, Bruce Blakeman, is running to be the next Governor!

Bruce is MAGA all the way, and has been with me from the very beginning. As Nassau County Executive, he is working tirelessly with the Brave Heroes of ICE, Border Patrol, and Law Enforcement to Keep Our Border SECURE, Stop Migrant Crime, Safeguard our Community, and Ensure LAW AND ORDER. As your next Governor, Bruce will continue to fight hard to Grow the Economy, Cut Taxes, and Regulations, Promote MADE IN THE U.S.A., Champion American Energy DOMINANCE, Strengthen our Military/Veterans, Advance Election Integrity, and Protect our always under siege Second Amendment!

Bruce Blakeman is a FANTASTIC guy, will win the big November Election and, without hesitation, has my Complete and Total Endorsement for Governor of the ONCE GREAT STATE OF NEW YORK. BRUCE WILL MAKE IT GREAT AGAIN, AND WILL NEVER LET YOU DOWN! President DONALD J. TRUMP

FBI Director Kash Patel

@FBIDirectorKash

Money doesn't lie!

The charity that supposedly fought the KKK actually funded the KKK.

The charity that supposedly fought Neo-Nazis actually funded Neo-Nazis.

Heidi Beirich supposedly dedicated her career to fighting neo-Nazis. The indictment alleges she helped FUND them.

Beirich allegedly oversaw more than $1.2 million in SPLC donor payments to a neo-Nazi informant she was romantically involved with, shared a home with, and held two joint bank accounts with. Approximately $140,000 of that donor money allegedly flowed into their joint accounts and was used to pay their personal living expenses.

The same informant broke into an extremist organization's headquarters, stole 25 boxes of documents, transported them across state lines, copied them, and returned the originals. Beirich allegedly knew the documents were stolen, used them for an SPLC story to raise more money, and then paid another source approximately $6,000 to falsely take responsibility for the burglary.

The woman who supposedly fought hate allegedly helped pay the very people spreading it, used their activity to raise more donor money, and personally benefited from the scheme.

The Southern Poverty Law Center ran a methodical, calculated scheme to defraud their donor base for millions and used an illicit banking structure system to sow discord and hate into our society. This is the ultimate definition of hypocrisy.

Beirich has now been arrested and charged with wire fraud conspiracy, conspiracy to submit false statements to a federally insured bank, and conspiracy to commit concealment money laundering.

This FBI will follow the money, expose the fraud, and find every individual involved.

Treasury IDs nearly $5B in bank transactions linked to suspected human smuggling, with 62% dip after Trump's election

By John Christopher
Published Aug. 13, 2026, 2:50 p.m. ET

WASHINGTON --- The Treasury Department has pinpointed nearly $5 billion in bank or other transactions linked to suspected human smuggling between 2023 and 2025 — a staggering figure that the Trump administration is vowing to reduce, The Post can reveal.

The Treasury's Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN) found $4.9 billion in suspicious exchanges by combing through Bank Secrecy Act data between Jan. 1, 2023, and Dec. 31, 2025, according to a forthcoming Financial Trend Analysis report.

Much of that amount included "excessive cash activity conducted along the southwest border of the United States," as well as transfers along other "common migration routes" and that had "unverifiable relationships between originators and beneficiaries."

"The transactions involved multiple discrepancies, including inconsistent payment amounts, unexplained refunds, and contracts that did not align with actual money movements," the report noted.

Some of the flagged payments totaled more than $3 million for charter flights believed to be linked to human smuggling between the Middle East and Central America.

"The filer connected one of the involved companies to human smuggling incidents, including a chartered flight carrying Indian nationals from Egypt to Jamaica through the UAE, and finally on to Nicaragua," where the migrants were able to attempt to enter the US by land.

In total, FinCEN analysts examined 67,540 BSA reports, with a peak of 29,266 suspicious transactions recorded in 2024.

Just 11,018 BSA reports were filed in 2025 --- a 62% decline from the previous year amid heightened scrutiny of potential smuggling or trafficking operations, particularly in the lead-up to the US hosting the 2026 World Cup.

The US hosted the greatest number of suspicious transactions --- with California and Texas the states from where the most reports originated — followed by Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras and Colombia.

At least 97% of the transactions involved Money Services Businesses (MSBs), while around 3% were associated with banks. Around $3 billion --- or 61% — of the actual money flagged in BSA data came from traditional depository institutions.

And 59% of the reports showed "no verifiable familial connection" between the two parties involved in the transaction.

"Many human smuggling networks generate profit for larger transnational criminal organizations, including Mexico-based drug cartels," said FinCEN Director Andrea Gacki in a statement.

Selena Gomez and mother accused of defrauding investors of her collapsing mental health company in new lawsuit

By CHRISTINE RENDÓN, US SENIOR REPORTER and DIANA COOPER, US SENIOR SHOWBIZ REPORTER
PUBLISHED: 13:03 EDT, 13 August 2026 | UPDATED: 16:45 EDT, 13 August 2026

Selena Gomez and her mother have been accused of fraud in a lawsuit filed by investors in her mental health company Wondermind.

The suit alleges founders 'falsely' represented the crumbling organization as one poised for success.

Founded by Selena Gomez, her mom Mandy Teefey and Daniella Pierson in 2021, Wondermind was caught up in controversy last year following The Cut's exposé revealing alleged disarray behind-the-scenes of the company.

Now investors who poured $1.2 million into the organization claim they were left in the dark about the problems going on in the company for more than three years before The Cut's expose was published.

The plaintiffs, Wondermind SRS 44, LLC and Bespoke Wondermind SPV I, LLC, are seeking a jury trial in the lawsuit filed against Gomez, Teefey, Pierson and Wondermind Global Inc. alleging they were hoodwinked into believing the company had the resources necessary for success while, unbeknownst to them, it 'was in the midst of collapse.'

In court documents obtained by The Daily Mail, the plaintiffs allege: 'The Defendants falsely represented that the Company had the infrastructure, leadership, and resources necessary for the Company to launch into a profitable, one-of-its-kind mental health and wellness platform.

Among other misrepresentations, the Company, including through the Individual Defendants, who directly solicited the Plaintiffs' investments, told the Plaintiffs three things: that Selena Gomez, one of the most famous women on earth with a billion-dollar brand and a platform unmatched in social media, would be actively building the Company as its head of marketing; that co-CEO Daniella Pierson was a $200 million executive whose prior businesses generated $40 million a year and who had already secured institutional employer partnerships with JPMorgan and Fidelity; and that a full slate of revenue generating initiatives, including advertising deals, celebrity cover stories, and a groundbreaking app, were already underway. These representations were false.'

The claim alleges that Gomez 'purported to sign a contract obligating her to perform' only to ignore it. 'The partnerships did not exist. The initiatives never materialized. The app was never built.

And for three years, while the Company quietly collapsed around them, not one of its founders, officers, or directors said a word to the investors whose money was funding the collapse,' the claim alleges.

Only 'after years of concealment' did investors learn about the inner workings of the company through The Cut expose.

OMG. Sec. Robert F. Kennedy Jr. exposes that the Biden admin REMOVED 90%+ PERCENT of the 80 people at HHS who oversaw anti-fraud efforts for $2.2 trillion in payments
$2.2 TRILLION DOLLARS TREATED LIKE IT'S NOTHING!! TENS of billions LOST

Xavier Becerra allowed mass fraud.

"When I came in, there's only 6 people who are in charge of all program integrity for my department!"

"My predecessor, Xavier Becerra, when he came into my agency, there were only 80 people in program integrity, 80 people. This is for 50 states and five territories. These are the people who are monitoring $2.2 trillion dollars in payments annually from my agency!"

"We do 4 million transactions a day. There's only 80 people looking at those. Xavier Becerra came in and transferred 76 of them out!"

"And it was an invitation for the fraudsters to come in and steal everything!"

"And that's why we have this hospice program! We've closed thousands of hospices here in Los Angeles. Because they didn't have patients. They were just billing us $6,000 a month for phony accounts!"

"And the durable medical equipment fraud, tens of billions of dollars here in Los Angeles County. Autism services, tens of billions of dollars all stolen because nobody was minding the STORE!"
BETRAYAL.

As someone who formally hated the anime baker more than all the rest of you combined, you need to learn to let go. Once I started to approach situations with Positivity, the hatred stopped and the acceptance began. This movement is bigger than you or any one person. Tranimae has flaws, as we all do, but they offered their time to bake when many of you did not. Without that time and energy, you wouldn't have had a place to cause friction and negativity. Learn to accept others and find the good in them, focus on what they offer to the movement, and appreciate them for who they are. You are ALL blessed, and you are ALL loved.

NAZI PEDO OCCULTIST adjacent

How ancient and how powerful to be able to do that?

Androgyny religion, where they vie with God. They are Gods? psychological "inflation" narcissism?

Commune with spirits?

Half the time they claim not to believe in God (No reason to follow holy laws?)

But when they go into their trances, they serve spirits and believe, then, in the spiritual world

Transgenderism is targeted mainly at white men.

Step one – Demoralize White Men, they are racist

Step two – Naturalize homosexuality and transgenderism

Step three – Detach women from seeking White Men

Step four – White Men seek acceptance

Step five – Wave of trannies and faggots, predominately WHITE MEN.

They are trying to replace you white man.

I'm sorry to say, but they are -- you're societies are a threat the (((their agenda))).

Luckily for you the Muzzies are turning on them too soon, before they have the tech to properly suppress them.

It's like the story of the Golem all over again.

As a degenerate I feel I can speak freely on this topic.

Mind you my tranny issues happened around the age of 9 or 10.

Before the advent of such themes that I am about to express.

Mind you I feel that transgenderism is a social contagion in this day and age -- and not a mental disorder of the kind it was originally.

With that said, allow me to elaborate.

Hypno Porn is a rising genre in the industry, what you will find funny is that BNWO is a thing.

Black New World Order -- where white men become fetishized to become trannies and cucks.

Jerk to porn and drop out of the gene pool.

It is disgusting, it is weird, and it isn't sexy -- it is a reaction to modernity and sexuality is a deep way of reprogramming people into other means.

The strong sensation makes it easier to attach themes and ideas to the individual via.

A surveillance state is not the attribute of a high trust society.

One needs to alter the media landscape and what is expected from each individual and their shared groups.

Cameras are not necessary – ideology is.

Thursday's amber extreme heat warning from the Met Office covered a huge area of central England, stretching from London to Sheffield.

The temperature at Kew reached 38.1(100.58) degrees, making it the hottest day of the year so far.

Across the country, the tinder-dry conditions have seen fire crews having to deal with numerous wildfire outbreaks.

My Brother in Christ.

I have only been honest here.

Saying what I think and helping in ways that I can.

At this time, I am simply enjoying myself and the banter with fellow patriots.

Where as you think I am a shill or a kike or what have you -- it doesn't matter to me.

The Plan and an agenda to renationalize the population and bring order to the western powers is more important to me then any other sacrifice.

I haven't done much, but my time is well spent.

I trust in the Anons and their ability to project nuance and confirm events towards one another and even the normies in the normal-sphere.

I am not here to make frens, I am not here to be a hero, I am simply here.

Take what you wish from what I have been and said, but my mind has grown as a caveat of these spaces.

I will not stop projecting my ideas and thought.

I will not stop enjoying the show.

I will not leave as I was here first.

So fuck off.

Because it benefits those who want humanity to never ascend.

They're restricted from benefitting from their own resources and wealth.

If the Africans get too smart and comfortable, they'll work out they're being robbed and may object.

And then they'll benefit from their own wealth instead of other nations like Spain, France and England getting rich off of keeping them poor.

And if they're comfortable in their own land, they'll never leave to invade the west.

Drought disrupts Rhine shipping route: Low water levels threaten Europe's supply chains

The Rhine River is one of the world's busiest inland waterways. But drought in Europe has made a crucial bottleneck impassable for cargo ships. That's causing serious supply problems—and driving up prices.

Heidi Beirich is the Co-Founder, Executive Vice President and Chief Strategy Officer of the Global Project Against Hate and Extremism. Beirich is also an Advisory Board Member of the Network for Hate Studies based out of the University of Ontario Institute of Technology and the former Intelligence Project Director of the Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) Intelligence Project, which publishes the award-winning Intelligence Report and the Hatewatch blog.

Beirich is an expert on various forms of extremism, including the white supremacist, nativist and neo-Confederate movements, as well as racism in academia.

Beirich oversaw the SPLC's yearly count of the nation's hate and anti-government groups, was a frequent contributor to the SPLC's investigative reports and is an oft-sought speaker at conferences on extremism. Before joining the SPLC staff in 1999, Beirich earned a doctorate in political science from Purdue University. She is the co-editor and author of several chapters of Neo-Confederacy: A Critical Introduction.

And you know, during my 5 month side quest, there were moments that I honestly couldn't tell if I picked up on something beforehand like I used to pick up the phone before it rang when I was young, or people may have used what I posted for inspiration. I thought it was just from posting here and because of who came here, turns out it's not limited to the platform I post on.

Erik Prince's Involvement in the DRC
Security and Mineral Wealth Initiatives
Erik Prince, the founder of the Private Military Company Blackwater, has re-emerged as a significant figure in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) through agreements aimed at securing and taxing the country's vast mineral wealth. As of May 2025, his activities have sparked interest and controversy, particularly in the context of the DRC's ongoing conflict with M23 rebels and its strategic mineral resources. Below is a summary of Prince's involvement based on available information.

Let em defend the police....

They won't live to regret it.

Sheep live in cities, I don't.
